Dear friends,

After nearly 14 years of calling Consul my home it was time to say farewell. To everyone that I celebrated, cried, built, played sports, worked, fundraised, worshipped, and served on boards with during my time as a member of this community, I want to say thank you! I have met people from all over the country in my last few years through work, and was always proud to tell them I was from Consul. 'Why would you want to live so far from everything?' they would say, and the simple answer is always the same. You can't beat the people that live there. My heart is heavy writing this and Consul will forever hold a piece of our hearts. Thank you so much for the farewell gift collected at the Co-op for us, and for the evening at Cypress that was organized. The kids and I look forward to hearing from you, so give us a shout when you are in Swift.

The Government of Saskatchewan continues to implement measures that will help address rural crime in the province. The Police (Regional Policing) Amendment Act represents an ongoing commitment to enhance rural policing in the province.

In particular, this Bill will update The Police Act, 1990 to allow rural municipalities, and other municipalities with populations under 500, to join regional police services. These changes will help provide municipalities with an additional option to address the issues of rural crime.
